CONCORDIA WRESTLING YEAR IN REVIEW

The 1986 Canadian Interuniversity Athletic Union (CIAU) wrestling season will undoubtedly be one of the most important in the sport's history at Concordia University.

Not only will Concordia be shooting for a record fourth consecutive CIAU championship, but the national title meet will be held at the West End Loyola campus athletic complex. The team, coached by Victor Zilberman and Peter Hume, are quickly gaining notice across the country as a dynasty. The 1985-86 nationals at Mount Allison University in Sackville, New Brunswick is testament to that. Concordia wrestlers took home nine medals - five gold, three silver and one bronze - in piling up 36 points in team standings, 15 more than runner-up Saskatchewan. Doug Yates, Pat Sullivan, Graham Dadswell, Sylvain Marcil and his brother Serge were the gold medalists; Mike Enos, Mike Sullivan and Sean O'Heany grabbed silvers while Robert Watson captured the bronze. Zilberman was named Canadian University coach of the year.

Concordia shared the 1984-85 title with McMaster University of Hamilton. Both schools picked up 22 points. Concordia competed with only six wrestlers, two fewer than McMaster.
